REPORT.

To the Board of Education:

In compliance with your rules I herewith present my second Annual Report. During the past six years that I have been a member of this Board, important changes have been made in the management of our schools, with a view of increasing their value and usefulness. A spirit of toleration and liberality now prevails, and questions of birth-place and religion no longer tend to prevent us from meeting on common grounds, or to encourage the growth of invidious distinctions. In my former report I had occasion to say that—"in our Public Schools everything of a sectarian character, or pertaining to religious belief, ought, and of necessity must, be excluded." Soon afterwards on revising the rules and regulations, the Board of Education omitted the Bible from the list of books to be used in the schools. Soon after the opening of the last school year, and after a full and fair discussion of the subject, the Board took decisive action upon the question.

An attempt to re-instate the Bible in our schools was defeated by a vote of three in the affirmative to ten in the negative, two members being absent and not voting. I cannot but repeat now what I said on the occasion of that vote: "If I were a clergyman of a Christian Church, and believed in all its doctrines and tenets, I should still vote upon this question as I now vote—No."* Our schools are now free in the broadest sense, open alike to all; they have entered upon an era of increased prosperity and usefulness, and, as they are the rational basis of republican institutions, good men, of whatever shade of political or religious belief, will render them unwavering support. They are common property; all are taxed for their support, and they can and must be conducted in that spirit.

It seems fitting in rendering an account of our stewardship, that we should present a full statement of the progress, condition and needs of our schools for those who are to succeed us in the management of this sacred public trust. In this intensely commercial age, citizens are interested in knowing all about the financial phases of corporate business, that they may judge whether or not their servants have wisely and economically expended the means placed at their disposal. I herewith present a condensed statement showing our receipts and expenditures for the year, and also the enrollment and attendance of pupils,

* That the Board acted properly was subsequently re-iterated in the masterly summary of the arguments upon that question by Prof. Patton, pastor of the Congregational Church, and in the luminous discussion of the subject by the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher.

Total Expenditures, - -	$821,308 50

In our rapidly growing city, our school enrollment is constantly increasing, and the demand for additional school accommodations is always pressing, and to meet this demand, additional expenditures are annually required. Yet so carefully have our finances been managed, that with an increase in membership of 3,098 pupils costing $57,808.68 to maintain (as the cost per pupil is $18.66) over the school year of 1874-5, our expenses, have been $6,294.21 less than during that year. Our entire expenditures for the year 1874-5 were $827,502.-71 and for the year just closed they were $821,308.50.

The cost of tuition per pupil based on average membership was, for the year 1874-5, - - -	$ 15	79
The same for the year 1875-6 - - - - - -	15	46
The entire cost per pupil for 1874-5 was, - -	18	93
The same for the year 1875-6 is, - - - - -	18	66
Average Salaries paid Teachers including that of Principals and Superintendents for 1874-5 was, -	789	04
The same for 1875-6, including Division High Schools,	772	60
A saving on the item of Salaries during the year of,	20,147	28

The economy that characterizes the business of this body will however be more apparent next year, for, as the Board of 1873-4 fixed salaries and most of the expenditures for the year 1874-5, so the Board of 1875-6 has fixed the salaries and most of the expenditures for the ensuing school year, by which current expenses have been reduced fully twenty-five per cent.; this decrease in expenditures is very great, and the reduction will actually be over One Hundred and Sixty Thousand Dollars, for which credit can be taken in the annual report for the school year ending June 30th, 1877.

A comparison of the results of 1874-5 with those of the past year exhibits very gratifying progress and improvement in our schools. Have absences decreased? Have we had a better average membership? Have we had more or less promotions? Have the teachers done better work than formerly? Has there been an influence exerted which has made itself felt in the better work of teachers? The following comparative statement will answer these questions:

Number of Suspensions for Absence for year 1874-5,	6	per cent
" " " " 1875-6,	$5\frac{3}{8}$	"
School Attendance of Entire School Pop'lation '74-5,	46	"
" " " " " 1875-6,	46	"

Daily Attendance to Whole Number Enrolled in Public Schools for School Year 1874-5, -	67
Daily Attendance to Whole Number Enrolled in Public Schools for School Year 1875-6, -	70	"
Average Enrollment to Whole Enrollment in Public Schools for School Year 1874-5, - -	71¼	"
Average Enrollment to Whole Enrollment in Public Schools for School Year, 1875-6, - -	74⅓	"

But in the matter of promotions we have some startling figures—decidedly interesting to every patron of schools.

Number of Promotions during School Year 1874-5,
Grammar Grades, - -	5,817
Primary Grades, - - -	21,354
Total, - - - -		27,171
Number of Promotions during School Year 1875-6,
Grammar Grades, - - - -	8,090
Primary Grades, - - - - - -	31,696
Total, - - -		39,786

The Promotions for the School Year 1875-6 exceed those for the School Year 1874-5 by 12,615. It might be thought that this is due to a large increase in the number of pupils; but the increase in the enrollment was only 2,008, and in the average membership 3,098; there need be no doubts however, as the percentage of promotions on average membership is as follows:

	1874-5	1875-6
Primary Grades, - -	78.7	107.3
Grammar Grades, - -	83.3	107.6
All Grades, - -	79 6	107.3

One pupil in every twenty has been promoted twice during the past school year.

It has been my policy to insist that children should be promoted as soon as they were able to pass to a higher grade, and that Principals should not detain pupils in any grade merely to secure high averages on examinations to flatter one's vanity at home and give a false impression abroad, at a fearful expense to pupils. Such practices of teachers entail a pecuniary loss on parents and on the city, as well as a positive disadvantage to pupils. In this matter there has been no occasion to find fault with the assistant teachers, for as a class there are no women more conscientious in the discharge of their duties.

There were admitted to the High and Division High Schools, during the year, 875 pupils, or more than fifty per cent. over that of any other year; of these, two-thirds chose to enter the Division High Schools, which have a two years course complete in itself.

To resume then, does the foregoing not show that in every element of school work, as well as in the material interests under the control of the Board there has been a marked, and in some respects, an astonishing improvement? Mr. J. L. Pickard, the Superintendent, labors one year as faithfully as he does in another, and during the last year his physical condition has been such that he determined to close his connection with the Public Schools of Chicago, and take respite from a rapidly growing work, as he expressed it to me. Whether then he has been more successful under the Board during the past year, or that an influence has made itself felt upon both teacher and pupil, or that it is the kind of assistance the Board has furnished in the general superintendence of teachers and pupils, are questions which may with profit be considered. We all know that Mr. Duane Doty, the Assistant Superintendent, who came here at the beginning of the school year and entered upon his work, brought with him a ripe experience, a reputation as a most successful manager of schools; he is so well and favorably known in educational and literary circles, that I will only add that I have never seen a person endowed with better administrative and executive abilities.

The number of grades has been changed from ten to eight, the first four constituting our Primary Department, the second four our Grammar Department. The average pupil does the work of one grade each year, or from the age of six to fourteen passes through the eight grades, and is ready to enter upon High School work. The marked success and popularity of the Division High Schools (with a two years course of study), although in operation only one year, proves that the four years course did not meet all the wants of the community. These schools, for which I contended for years, must not be confounded with the Intermediate Schools, of which we have none so called, as were recommended by the Superintendent some years ago; they are essentially different and serve an entirely different object. In the course of study, German is included.

During the year marked progress has been made in the study of German. It is now omitted from the Primary grades; pupils commence the study in the fifth grade, and continue it throughout the remainder of the course. The study has received every encouragement and consideration from the Board during the past year. It is now graded and placed on the same footing with the other studies, so that its permanency as a feature of our course of study is assured.

It has not been deemed necessary to make any changes in the text-books; such changes should never be made in our Public Schools except when absolutely necessary; frequent changes are very expensive to the patrons of the schools, and of questionable utility in this age of competition in the quality of this class of books. The cost of school books however has this year been reduced by the Board's adopting the measures recommended in my first annual report; this has forced a reduction of twenty per cent. in prices, that is, they can now be purchased for twenty per cent. less than the regular retail price; and if the Board firmly insists upon it, next year the reduction in the cost of school books can be made forty per cent.

The Board has under its control property worth $1,571,993.47, from which an income is derived. This property is leased for a long term of years; two years ago there was due on these leases over $200,000; many of the tenants had not paid anything since 1870. Two years ago, however, under a new administration, the Board took this matter in hand, and did what any good business man would have done, appointed a competent Attorney to take charge of those interests, enforce the collection of amounts due, forfeit leases and bring the parties to terms at all events. The result was that, under the new order of things, over $60,000 was realized in money and secured paper the first year; suits were commenced, leases forfeited, and, with the exception of a few cases pending in court, old debts collected; all of the whole indebtedness has now been settled, current rents are being paid with due promptness; these interests have in years gone by suffered. Designing and crafty persons have attempted to get adverse titles to school land by pursuing a course which, while not criminal under our statutes, is none the less reprehensible, virtually an attempt to filch from the patrimony belonging to the children of our schools. I can assure the public that we have not expended any money to better advantage, or with better results, than in the payment of the salary to James Goggin, Esq., as Attorney of the Board. These interests have been intelligently protected, and faithfully served.

There is one officer of the Board, whose services, in the nature of things, cannot be fully understood and appreciated by the public. I refer to James Ward, Esq., Building and Supply Agent, one of our most esteemed citizens, a resident since 1840. Every member of the Board bears witness that he manages the duties incumbent upon him faithfully, intelligently, with a view to the closest economy. A person not possessing his keen business sagacity and thorough knowledge of our school buildings, and the quality and value of supplies, would increase our expenditures thousands of dollars annually, and without fear of being called to account either for extravagance or dishonesty.

My thanks are expressed to the members of the Board for having twice elected me President, and I fully appreciate the high honors conferred upon me. In the two years during which I have had the honor to preside over the meetings of the Board, no appeal has been taken from my decisions; this, I deeply feel, is owing to their kind consideration. An interesting Historical Summary of the Public School System of Chicago since its organization, and the names, time of service, etc., of the members of the Board of Education since 1835, will be found appended to the report of the Superintendent.

JOHN C. RICHBERG,

CHICAGO, Aug. 1876. President.

REPORT

SUPERINTENDENT.

REPORT.

To the Board of Education:

Personal acquaintance with the school work done in this city is, of necessity, limited. Each citizen knows something of the character of the school his child attends. He forms some opinion of its merits. He criticizes its defects. He judges its success by the interest of his child, and determines its efficiency by the child's progress. He views the individual school, or it may be, the room of the individual teacher, from the stand-point of an interested parent. His child is satisfied, makes good progress, and the parent makes to himself and to his neighbors a favorable report. Under different conditions, an unfavorable report is made.

Could these individual reports be collected and a balance struck, we would have the popular opinion of the value and the efficiency of our school system. The testimony of such a report would be conflicting upon each particular. Each teacher would be declared "the best," "the poorest," "invaluable," "worth- less." Each school would appear as attempting "too much," "too little;" as "better," "worse," than before; requiring "a change," "no change," in Principal or Assistants.

These extreme opinions, as well as all intermediate shades of opinion, may be honestly held. There may be good grounds for them in the varied circumstances, dispositions or prejudices of the men holding them, or of the children who play an important part in shaping the opinions of their parents. Teachers are subject to varying moods, are widely diverse in adaptability to the peculiar dispositions of their pupils. They may be wrong in the instruction or discipline of some pupils, and yet as honest as when right in the treatment of others.

The Superintendent, who by virtue of his office gives audience to the individual parent when he has an opinion to offer touching the particular school, or teacher of his child, can after all hear but very few of the 50,000 or 60,000 parents, whose children are taught in our schools. He can gather but little of the direct testimony of parents, and that usually of the unfavorable kind, since all who are satisfied have no occasion to spend their time in a visit to the office for the purpose of expressing their satisfaction.

He must therefore rely upon the indirect testimony found in increased enrollment, more regular attendance, less cases of special complaint and more rapid advancement of pupils, as indications of prosperity.

With this end in view, attention is invited to the following

AVERAGE NUMBER BELONGING in each of the several grades is based this year upon the old system of grading, since the change from ten to eight grades was not made until after the beginning of the year.

Hereafter the reports will be made upon the new grading, as the schools have been gradually worked into that system, so that, during the last month of the year, all were working upon the basis of eight grades, and the table following the grade report is the exact showing of the Enrollment for June under the new system.

From the above table it will appear that the number of boys under twelve years of age is larger than last year by two per cent., while that of girls at same age is about one per cent. larger. Under twelve years, the ratio of boys to girls is 97 to 90. Beyond that age the ratio is 62½ to 69. Boys leave school from twelve to seventeen years of age much more generally than girls. Boys find employment in business pursuits. Girls continue in school with a view to becoming teachers.

LESSONS FROM THE STATISTICS.

The value of schools must depend largely upon the extent and regularity of their use. The best provision may be made by the city, and yet fail of accomplishing desired results because of indifference on the part of those for whom schools are provided.

For many years past the ratio of school attendance to the whole school population has steadily increased. This year it is 46 per cent. But the more marked improvement is found in the ratio of daily attendance to the whole number enrolled. In 1874 it was 62½ per cent. In 1875 it was 67 per cent. This year it is 70 per cent. And while attendance has been more regular, it has also been longer continued. Last year the average attendance was nearly seven days less than for the current year.

The average enrollment, as compared with the total enrollment, has risen from 71¼ per cent. in 1875, to 74⅓ per cent. for 1876. Suspensions for irregular attendance have decreased from 2,174 in 1875, to 2,100 in 1876.

Punctual attendance remains at the same point as in 1875. It is certainly as high as can be reasonably expected, unless other and fully as important interests are sacrificed to that of attendance. Ill health, and home service often made necessary in the majority of families, must prevent absolutely perfect attendance. Many have been so fortunate as to make a creditable record. Katie R. Wood, just admitted to the High School, entered the lowest Primary Grade eight years ago, and has not been absent a single half day, nor tardy once during her entire course. Others have a similar record for from three to six years. These are rare cases of uninterrupted good health, and instances of wise home influences. There is an opposite extreme found in the case of one young lady who has lost her connection with the schools ten times during the year, by ten continued absences of from three days to as many weeks. Another has the record of seven such re-admissions during the year. And yet it is not right to suppose that these extreme irregularities are the fault of the young ladies themselves in all cases. It may be, with them, a struggle against untoward circumstances. That they have returned so frequently is evidence of a desire on their part to secure as much of an education as possible, and so far as this is true, it is commendable in them.

There is a class of absentees whose irregular attendance is of their own choice, some of whom court suspension that they may obtain freedom from school restraints. To suspend such is a reward for their truancy; to retain such in their regular classes corrupts others over whom they have an influence, and a greater harm is done to others than the good secured to themselves. Such boys are restive, and generally capable. They need a different course of discipline from that prescribed for the average boy. For the treatment of such, I deem the recommendation made to the Board some months since, our best available resource; viz: the setting apart of one room in a building for such pupils as demand of the teacher more time than their fair proportion, in charge of a teacher who has shown special aptitude for the training of the backward, the obstinate and the irregular. Such a room must of necessity be an ungraded room. It is the essential need of our present system. It would prevent suspension, encourage many halting ones, save many who are in the incipient stages of crime. Such an effort is due the neglected ones. It would also provide the means of a partial education to many whose employment prevents their regular attendance at full school hours. The number admitted to such a room should be limited. Those doing the best and showing most marked improvement, should be promoted to their regular classes as fast as new candidates are presented. The studies pursued by each should be such as to ensure the greatest interest.

PRIMARY INSTRUCTION.

Until the past year the instruction given pupils in the Primary Grades, has been largely without the use of the text-book. During the year, text-books in Arith metic and in Geography have been placed in the hands of the pupils. The result of the change is favorable to more rapid promotion, since it has given the pupil opportunity for private study, and the losses arising from absence have been more readily made up. The average teacher doubtless succeeds better with a text book in the hands of her pupils, than in exclusively oral instruction. The only drawback to success is found in too close adherence to the text-book, and in diminution of actual instruction given. Thrown entirely on her own resources the teacher makes her work more a matter of study. In this regard it is of great value to the pupil, that the requirements of the course go beyond the material furnished in the text-books used, so that the stimulus furnished the teacher in preparation for the oral work, and the help furnished the pupil in the text-book put into his hands, accrue to the pupil's benefit. In Primary reading there has been decided improvement. This would be still more rapid, could pupils be furnished with fresh reading matter occasionally. In some cities this is accomplished by the introduction of a little four page sheet issued weekly, and containing new and interesting reading. A proposition is before the Board for the supply to our schools of something of the same nature. It is useless to spend much time in drilling primary pupils in reading. They need to become acquainted with the forms and meaning of words so that they can call them at sight, and can appreciate their force. To this end the pupil's curiosity must be gratified, and something new be placed before him frequently. This end can be attained by preparation of First and Second Readers in serial form, so arranged that they can be placed in a permanent cover and removed at will. It is quite certain that whatever is contained within the lids of a Reader when put into the hands of a child, is soon looked over, and its freshness is very speedily gone. Less matter at a time and more frequent changes, will be of great value to the child in this most difficult school task.

GRAMMAR INSTRUCTION.

The recitation is of two-fold use; as a test of what the pupil has already acquired, and as a means of instruction in aid of further attainments. The tendency is toward an excessive employment of the recitation as a testing process. The hints given in the last report have been followed out during the year toward more instruction and less examination, more teaching, and less testing. The danger is that in the rebound from too much drawing from an empty well, we attempt too much filling of the well. Pouring is as fatal as pumping. Instruction does not consist in cramming, but in guiding the pupil to a proper exercise of his own powers of thinking. In teaching him how to study, the best instruction is given. The record of promotions shows improvement over previous years. More than 107 per cent. of the average number belonging have been promoted, which means that one out of twenty has been twice promoted during the year. When we consider the fact that promotion implies a complete study of the grade supposed to require one year for its accomplishment, and that, of the average number belonging, less than 67 per cent. attend school for the full year, the record really shows 160 per cent. of promotions for those in attendance for the full year, or, that three-fifths of the full attendants have been twice promoted during the year. This fact is ample testimony to the faithfulness and efficiency of the teachers.

HIGH SCHOOL INSTRUCTION.

The organization of three Division High Schools with a two years Course of Study, marks a new departure in High School work. These have taken from the High School those pupils who desired only the English Studies, together with the German Language.

The examinations required for passing from year to year, have given an impetus to study, and the year has been one of marked prosperity. The popular estimate of the High School work is shown in the largely increased numbers applying for admission to the High School, and to the Division High Schools. During the year, nine hundred twenty-five persons have been examined, a number more than 50 per cent. in advance of that of any previous year. Eight hundred seventy-five have been admitted; one third to the four years course, and the remaining two-thirds to the three schools of two years course.

The practical value of the High School work is brought home in the statement that of the seven hundred sixty-two teachers employed during the year, four hundred twenty were graduates of the High and Normal Schools. The High School class of 1875 graduated with fifty-six young ladies, thirty-four of whom have been appointed as teachers since their graduation. The supply of graduates is equal to the demand for teachers. It is certain that these ladies trained in our own schools, are far superior to those of no experience from abroad. Experienced teachers from abroad expect and receive an advanced salary from the commencement of their work. This advance is equal to at least one hundred dollars per year for three years, when those who begin at the minimum salary reach the maximum. There is thus saved to the city in salaries, more than the cost incurred in the education of her own teachers; or if inexperienced teachers be employed from outside our own schools, there is loss of efficiency more than equal to the cost of educating and training. I am aware that this is a selfish and a narrow view to take of the benefits of High Schools, but it is entitled to some weight and may have a slight influence by side of the broader and more liberal view of the general good.

CONCLUSION.

It has seemed best to omit from this report many of the statistics heretofore given. In studying brevity I have not felt warranted in entering upon the discussion of any educational topic.

Appended to this report will be found a sketch of the School History of the City, specially appropriate to this year.

Whatever of success has been attained in the work of instruction, is due to an intelligent and earnest corps of teachers, each of whom has held the cherished purpose of honest labor. They are most cheerfully commended to your kind consideration.

For acts of kindness shown to me, personally and for continued support, you have my grateful acknowledgments.

J. L. PICKARD,
Superintendent of Schools.

Died in Denver, Colorado, Nov. 26, 1875, Charlotte P. Kenyon of the Douglas School.
Died in Chicago, Jan. 8, 1876, Linnie Dahl of the Cottage Grove School.
Died in Chicago, January 25, 1876, Edward E. Whittemore, Teacher of Music.
Died in Chicago, January 27, 1876, Laura E. Pinta of the Lincoln Street Primary School.
Died in Racine, Wis., May, 1876, Anna M. Byrne of the High School.
Died in Florida, June, 1876, Anna C. Hawkins of the Jones School.
Died in Vermont, June, 1876, Mary E. Balch of the Haven School.
Died in Kenosha, Wis., July 14, 1876, Mary E. Barnes of the King School.
Died in Chicago, Aug. 7, 1876, Francis Hanford, Principal of the North Division High School.

With the exception of Mr. Whittemore, whose failing health compelled his resignation in June, 1875, all were elected as Teachers for the year under review, and all actually entered upon the work of the year with us.

Miss Kenyon and Miss Barnes were graduates of the High School Class of 1871, and Miss Hawkins also of the class of 1873. Miss Pinta graduated from the Normal School in 1871. Immediately after graduation they entered upon their work as Teachers. Devotion to their loved occupation won them success, and the love of their pupils.

Miss Balch and Miss Byrne came to the city from abroad about nine years ago, the latter with large experience elsewhere. Both had rare endowments, fitting them for the work to which they were assigned, — the one to the care of the lowest, and the other to the instruction of the highest classes in our schools.

Miss Dahl came also from abroad six years ago. Her work was her delight and her pride.

Of them all it may be said: They were unobtrusive, giving their best service at all times, thinking more of their pupils than of themselves.

These all laid a sure foundation for success in well-balanced minds and in earnest purpose. The worth of a true character they inculcated by precept, and better still by example.

I cannot better express my opinion of Mr. Hanford, so long my Assistant, than in copying from the records of the Principals' Association the following well deserved tribute:

"Passed from this life, Aug. 7, 1876, Francis Hanford, Principal of the North Division High School.

"In this sad and startling event, the Principals' Association deplores the loss of a kind and valued associate, an earnest and successful co-laborer, and a true and faithful friend. During his eight years connection with our schools, in positions of marked honor and responsibility, he had commended and endeared himself to us by his ardent and unselfish devotion to his work, by his firm and unswerving integrity of purpose and by his honest Christian manliness.

"To his bereaved widow and orphaned children in their sorrow and desolation we tender the assurance of our deepest and fullest sympathy."

HISTORICAL SKETCH.

In this year of review I have thought it might be a matter of interest to sketch very briefly the School History of Chicago. The facts are taken largely from a sketch prepared by W. H. Wells, Esq., and published in his report for year 1857-8, and after that date from the records of the Board.

1810. First school with one pupil, taught by Robert A. Forsyth, a lad of 13 years; his pupil 9 years.

1816. Private school opened by Wm. L. Cox.

1820. Private school opened in the garrison.

1829. Family school for Beaubien families, taught by Charles H. Beaubien.

1830. Private school opened by Stephen Forbes.

1833. Private school opened by John Watkins. An infant school by Eliza Chappell (Mrs. Jeremiah Porter). An English and Classical School by George T. Sproat.

The 16th Section (school land) was divided into one hundred forty-two blocks, and all but four blocks sold for $38.865. The city has since purchased back for school purposes:
One piece 175 feet by 200 feet. One piece 111 feet by 200 feet.
One piece 145 feet by 200 feet. One piece 120 feet by 150 feet.
In all about 1-260 part of the amount sold, for which was paid the sum of $120,000. At this rate the whole amount sold would now be worth over $31,000,000.

1834. First appropriation made for the support of a Public School.

1835. First Legislative Act authorizing the annual election of 5 or 7 Inspectors, who should lay off the township into Districts, each District to elect 3 Trustees. Four Districts were made.

1837. City Charter adopted; Common Council to be School Commissioners, and to appoint not less than 5, nor more than 12 Inspectors.

1838. City employed seven Male Teachers.

1839. Financial troubles caused the dismissal of some teachers. Special Charter providing for the foundation of the present School System. Seven Inspectors to be appointed by the Council.

1840. Only four Male Teachers employed.
1844. First Public School House erected—"Dearborn."
1846. "Scammon" and "Kinzie" Buildings erected.
1851. "Washington" Building erected.
1854. First Superintendent elected—John C. Dore.
1856. High School opened Oct. 8.
1857. Board of Inspectors increased to fifteen.
1864. Change from general appointment of Inspectors to the appointment of one from each Ward—number thus increased to sixteen, and at a later date to twenty.
1871. Ten School Buildings destroyed by fire.
1872. Legislative Act changes the mode of appointing School Inspectors from the Council to the Mayor with approval of Council, and to be made without regard to Ward lines, at the same time reducing the number of members to fifteen and increasing their powers.

The growth of the schools may be best shown by the following table:

	Teachers.	Enrollment.	Daily Attendance.
1840, 1845, 1850		No Records.
1855	42	6,826	Estimated 2,400

1875	700	49,121	32,999
1876	762	51,128	35,970

RENTED BUILDINGS.

Owing to the depressed condition of the city finances, no new contracts for the erection of new buildings were entered into during the year, and as a consequence the Board has been obliged to provide for the increased number of pupils in those neighborhoods where there is the greatest demand for additional school accommodations by renting such buildings or rooms as could be found best adapted for such use.

At the meeting of Sept. 28, 1875, your Committee was authorized to fit up and prepare for use immediately, the following named buildings, to-wit:

The basement of the First United Presbyterian Church building, corner Monroe and Paulina Street, at a rent of $900 per annum; this building has accommodated five divisions of pupils during the year. The school has been called the South Paulina Street Primary School, and relieves the Brown School District.

The Re-union Presbyterian Church Building on W. 14th Street, near Throop, at a rental of $720 per annum. This school has been known as the West Fourteenth Street Primary No 2, and has relieved the Clarke School, and affords accommodations for five divisions of scholars.

The Father Mathew Temperance Hall, on Harrison Street adjoining the Dore School lot, at a rental of $780 per annum. This school has been known as the Harrison Street Primary School, and relieves the Dore School. It accommodates four divisions of pupils.

The German High School Building on South Union Street, near West Fourteenth Street, at a rental of $1,200 per annum. This school is known as the South Union Street Primary School. It relieves the Foster and the Fourteenth Street Primary Schools, and accommodates eight divisions of pupils.

A two-story building, 28 by 90 feet, on LaSalle Street near North Avenue, at a rental of $840 per annum. This school is known as the North LaSalle Street Primary School. It relieves the Franklin, Ogden and Sheldon Schools, and accommodates six divisions of pupils.

During the summer vacation of 1875, the church building on Halsted Street, occupied during the previous year as a Branch of the Walsh Street Primary School, was removed to the corner of Eighteenth Street and Alport Avenue, and was occupied during the past year by the Alport Street Primary School, at a rental of $600 per annum during the early part of the year, and $780 per annum during the latter part of the year. It accommodates five divisions of pupils.

Upon the removal of the above named building, the first floor of the building known as No. 696 South Halsted Street, corner of Seventeenth Street, was secured at a rental of $600 per annum. It has been occupied by the South Halsted Street Primary School, and accommodates three divisions of pupils.

In January, 1876, the building occupied by the Church of the Good Shepherd, corner of Jones and Homan Street, was rented at $45 per month during the time of its occupancy for school purposes. The School has been known as the Thirty-fourth Street Primary School, and has consisted of two divisions of pupils, and has given relief to the Holden School.

In February 1876, the building occupied by the Norwegian Lutheran Church, corner of Seymour and Hirsch Street, near Humboldt Park, was rented at $12 per month, and used as a Branch of the Wicker Park School, accommodating one division of pupils.

In March, 1876, authority was granted to rent the second floor of the building, corner of Wells and Hinsdale Street, occupied by the Branch of the Og- School, at an additional rental of $750 per annum, making the total rental, $1,950 per annum. The building now accommodates seven divisions of pupils.

The following statement shows appropriations that have been made by the Common Council for the purchase of school sites, and for the erection of school buildings, which still remain to our credit, but the Committee have not been able to take any steps toward the expenditure of such appropriations, owing to the failure on the part of the city to collect a sufficient amount of the taxes of the several years in which such appropriations were made, in addition to the amount required for current expenditures for the support of the schools.

On account of the failure on the part of the city to enforce the collection of the taxes levied for the past three years your Committee deemed it advisable not to contract for any new buildings during the year, but, as far as possible, have met the wants for increased school accommodations by renting buildings. Our rented buildings are not equal to our twelve room buildings, and we would urge that the City Council grant the Board, as soon as possible, all that they have asked for, as in every instance the demand is great, and in some cases it has been so for the last two years, and as several of the lots have been purchased and paid for, it is a loss not to erect the buildings, giving equal facilities to all. The public is entitled to, and look to the city for school accommodations, and it is for the best interest of society that we furnish it, so that all may have the opportunity for education.

Your Committee are satisfied that the plan of the twelve room building is a good one, and that they have been erected at a very reasonable cost to the city, and by continuing the present plan the cost of building is easily determined.

Your Committee cheerfully recommend the continuance of Mr. James Ward, the Building and Supply Agent, as Superintendent of the erection of all new buildings, as the long experience he has had, gives him a perfect knowledge of everything pertaining to the building, and his great desire to have everything well done and cheap makes him the most competent man for that position.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

ON

SCHOOL FUND PROPERTY.

The Committe on School Fund Property herewith submits the following annual report:

The School Fund property belonging to the City of Chicago was appraised in 1875, at a valuation of $1,828,045.84. Nearly all the property is now under lease, and the annual rental exceeds $100,000. If the property were appraised at its real rental value, the revenue from it would be increased so as to almost entirely relieve the tax-payers of Chicago from direct taxation for the support of the Public Schools.

At the beginning of the School Year in 1874, there was due the city about $300,000 of delinquent rents under the appraisement of valuation made in 1870; of this amount a great portion has been lost through the insolvency of the tenants. This deplorable result was mainly owing to neglect in collecting from them, as many had not paid anything on their rent for five years previously. Besides the loss by insolvency, nearly the same amount was lost on account of the compromise made with the tenants of from 25 to 40 per cent. of the annual rental for the five years following the appraisement made in 1870, it being claimed by the tenants that the appraisal was oppressively high and was also illegally made.

During the past two years all of the old indebtedness has been collected or secured, except where litigation is pending, and in cases of insolvency, in the latter cases the leases have been forfeited.

Of the original grant of Section Sixteen, to the Town of Cicero, over three hundred acres remain as yet unsold, and there is now held by the Town Trustees about $100,000 of the money realized from the portion sold. To the interest on this as well as to the profits of the unsold land, the City of Chicago is entitled to at least a two-thirds part.

For many years, portions of the school lands have been used for gambling and other disreputable purposes. Strenuous efforts have been made by the Board to prevent such occupation. There remains now only two such places, on Block 142. Their leases are forfeited, and they now hold possession only through the delay in reaching the appealed cases for trial in the upper Courts. Soon we may hope that the property devoted by the general government for the instruction of youth shall not be prostituted to such unworthy uses, nor that the moral sense of a large portion of the community shall be shocked at the spectacle of a Sunday night variety theatre on School Fund property.

Previous to the appointment of an Attorney for the Board, there being no adequate supervision of our interests, persons who look on the School Fund as public plunder, took advantage of this condition of affairs, and one gentleman, Mr. Isaac R. Hitt, has obtained deeds to over $200,000 worth of property belonging to the School Fund. Eighty acres of land in the Town of Palos was, during the years 1869 and '70, wholly lost to the Board by one of these land sharks procuring title to the same by means creditable to no one who participated in the transaction.

It may be asked why the Board was so negligent of its duty in relation to the school lands. The answer is, that until 1872 the whole management and control of the lands was in the hands of the City Council, and not in the Board of Education.

It is a matter of congratulation that since the appraisement of 1875, made under the direction of the Board, every dollar of rent due the School Fund has been collected or is collectible. We therefore feel confident that with the attention given the School Fund by the Board since the management of the property came under its control, and the aid given by the Attorney employed by the Board, no more losses will be suffered either in portions of the property or in its rental.

As to the back rents, the work of collection so diligently prosecuted and fully reported in the last annual report, has been continued during the past year. As an example, we might cite the last official act of the late Attorney, Mr. Goggin, in obtaining a forfeiture of the lease of No. 71 Monroe St., seizing possession of the building worth $25,000, and thereby forcing the liquidation of delinquent rent of previous years, amounting to about $3,000.

In conclusion, we may fairly call attention to the comparatively trifling expense of the collection of our rental; the cost not exceeding one per cent. We hazard the assertion that no private estate can compare with it in careful and economical administration.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

ON

Your Committee on German respectfully submit their Annual Report:

Upon the recommendation of your Committee at the beginning of the School Year, the study of German is now confined to the Grammar Grades and the High Schools. The study is still optional, pupils commence with the fifth grade, and continue it throughout the entire course. The time allotted remains unchanged, but the study is now thoroughly systematized and graded, examinations are held and pupils are promoted as in any other branch of study. The promotions have been very satisfactory, there having been 2430 during the year in this department, which is conclusive upon the question of progress. Of those studying German in the Grammar Schools, 94 entered the High Schools.

The time given to the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades is very limited. The Superintendent should be instructed to so arrange the programmes of these grades that those studying German should have at least thirty minutes, four times a week, for recitations and instruction. The pupils desire it, and the interest and eagerness which they now manifest in the study, and their desire to gain a knowledge of this most useful language, should receive every encouragement.

Though we must admit that the Board has acted in the most liberal manner during the year in regard to the maintenance and permanency of this branch of instruction, the question has always been, what course is for the best interests of the study so as to make it efficient and successful. It once was only tolerated, that time has passed, and the success and permanency of the instruction of German in our Public Schools is an accomplished fact.

Appended to this report will be found an interesting table of statistics, prepared by the special teacher in charge of this branch of instruction, which will be found valuable for future reference. It must be borne in mind, however, that about 1000 pupils studying in the lower primary grades were dropped, by reason of confining the instruction in this branch to the Grammar Grades.

Respectfully submitted,

T. J. BLUTHARDT,
ADOLPH SHOENINGER,
D. A. KOHN,

Committee on German.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

ON

EVENING SCHOOLS.

The session of Evening Schools for 1875, commenced October 5, 1875, and continued till the evening of December 10, 1875, a period of ten weeks. The appropriation made by the Common Council for Evening Schools, was $7000, together with an unexpended balance of the previous year, amounting to $1406.07, making a total amount available for this purpose of $8406.07. Against the balance of the previous year, there were bills outstanding for the session of 1874 amounting to $595.52, there was also expended during the session of 1875 for introducing gas into the Wells and Newberry school buildings, and for gas fixtures in these and in other buildings, and for advertising the opening of the schools, the sum of $819.58, leaving for actual current expenses of tuition, janitors' services and fuel, the sum of $6990.97.

Evening Schools were held in the Kinzie and Newberry School Buildings in the North Division of the city; in the Jones and Ward school buildings in the South Division of the city; and in the Scammon, Foster, Wells, and Sangamon Street school buildings in the West Division of the city. An Evening High School was also opened in the frame building on the High School lot.

The following table shows the number of sessions held at each school, the number of evenings of instruction given, the total enrolment, the average attendance, and the total number of evenings attendance of pupils by sexes.

The following report, submitted by Mr. S. H. Peabody, in charge of the Evening High School, will explain the working of said school, and we therefore publish it as a part of our report.

Perry H. Smith, Esq.

Chairman of Committee on Evening Schools.

Sir: By direction of your Committee, the Evening High School was opened in the branch building of the High School, Monroe Street, Oct. 5, 1875. Two classes were organized; one, elementary, received instruction three evenings per week in Mathematical Drawing, with oral lessons in Mechanical Philosophy; the other, advanced, composed chiefly of pupils who had been in the school during the preceding winter, attended two evenings per week, were taught Drawing of Machinery, and received a course of Lectures in Physics, upon the subjects, Pneumatics, Magnetism, and Electricity, illustrated by experiments.

To meet a demand for instruction in Book-keeping and Algebra, a class was opened on the second week of the term, for the study of these branches, under the tuition of Mr. O. S. Westcott; the demand still continuing, a second class in Book-keeping, with Geometry, was opened on the third week of the term, under the same teacher. The first of these classes met three times, the second twice per week.

At the end of the tenth week, orders were received to close all the classes except those in Drawing, and to continue those classes two evenings only each week. In this way the school was open a second term of twelve weeks, ending March 1, 1876.

During the last two weeks, the pupils of the advanced class prepared a series of drawings of machinery which were included in the exhibit of the Public Schools of Chicago in the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia.

Most of the pupils attending the evening classes were between the ages of 18 and 25; a few were younger, and some were as old as 45. With few exceptions, their occupation and their means would not permit them to obtain, in any other way, the instruction given in the Evening School. For orderly and courteous demeanor, for appreciation of the opportunity afforded, and for earnest, persistent effort to make the most thereof, these pupils will take rank with the very first in any school in the city.

No question of discipline was ever raised, for no occasion demanded.

The foregoing is respectfully submitted,

S. H. PEABODY,
Principal of Evening High School.

The expenditures in detail have been as follows:

The demands upon the Moseley Book Fund and the Jonathan Burr Fund for text-books for indigent pupils has been unprecedently large during the school year just closed, for two reasons. The adoption of Monteith's Primary Geography in grades where no text-books in this study had previously been used, the adoption of Felter's Primary Arithmetic, and the placing of Warren's Common School Geography and Robinson's Practical Arithmetic in lower grades than had been required during the previous year, was one cause; and the other cause arose from the fact that during the past year many heads of families have either been entirely out of employment, or have had so little employment that they were obliged to seek relief in this manner in order to keep their children in school.

A discrepancy of $288.40 in the balance reported on hand in the Jonathan Burr Fund, April 1, 1875, in the last report of the Committee, arises from an error made last year in including this amount, which was paid in during the year, as cash on hand for expenditure, whereas it should have been credited to the principal of the Fund.

The Jonathan Burr Fund is invested as follows:

Four Sewerage Bonds of $1,000 each, Nos. 2692, 2693, 2694 and 2695, dated October 28, 1869, and due July 1, 1894, bearing 7 per cent interest........	$ 4,000 00
Three Sewerage Bonds of $1,000 each, Nos. 2833, 2834 and 2835, dated May 25, 1870, and due July 1, 1895, bearing 7 per cent interest.................	3,000 00
City Certificate of Indebtedness, No. 191, dated September 16, 1872, bearing 7 per cent interest....	12,165 00
In hands of Comptroller uninvested..........................	506 09
Total Principal of Jonathan Burr Fund...........		$19,671 09

There is also $794.53 of accrued interest invested in a City Certificate of Indebtedness, No. 193, date September 16, 1872, bearing interest at 7 per cent per annum.
